About the Author	116

*I will be shaped and formed by God only.
I live in the body God gave me in the perfection of His plan.*

FREE TO BE ME

God made only one of me. I smile at the precious gift of God's expression that I am. The only individual who needs to acknowledge my special uniqueness is me. I do not set out to prove my worthiness nor validate my actions to anyone. I only need answer to God by resting in the assuredness that God does not make mistakes. As such, I am a beautiful child of God both inside and out.

As I allow full expression of myself, this action silently gives permission to others to do the same. I do not allow another individual to control who I am at heart. I will be shaped and formed by God only. I live in the body God gave me in the perfection of His plan. I do not force myself to fit into society's standards of perfection. I am God's model only.

I laugh freely, I am happy to be alive, I embrace my unique talents and know there is no one else

I calm myself and reside in the everlasting peace that was born within me as I drew my first breath.

This treasure trove of beautiful prayers provides invocations for change, children, courage, faith, grace, friendship, grief, happiness, inner strength, guidance—and many more. This gem is small enough to carry in a purse or pocket, while providing wisdom and solace for the reader.

Jane has written a treasure chest full of spiritual prayers that will enlighten, uplift and open your heart to a greater self-awareness of who God is through you.
